

United States Postal Service
Postal Customer Council Discussion Group
Community Rules

This LinkedIn Discussion Group page (hereinafter “this page” or this “Discussion Group”) is moderated by the United States Postal Service (the “Postal Service”). The purpose of this page is to build interest in the United States Postal Service’s Postal Customer Council (PCC) Program by providing information about upcoming PCC events and meetings and through discussion of PCC best practices. Postal Customer Councils are postal-sponsored organizations consisting of Postal Service managers and individuals from local businesses who are interested in learning about Postal Service products and services. The Mission of the PCCs is to foster a close working relationship between the Postal Service and all businesses that use the mail and to share information about new and existing Postal Service products, services and procedures that affect all business mailers.

This Discussion Group is a pilot program to run through May 2017 and will be open to PCCAC members and to PCC Officers of such PCCs as the Postal Service may identify in its discretion. The Discussion Group will also be open to Postal Service employees who are involved in or who have duties pertaining to the PCC Program. The Discussion Group may be opened to other eligible PCCs members at the Postal Service’s discretion. Postal Service administrators will verify participant eligibility as necessary. The terms “user” and “users” shall refer to a PCC member or members and any other participant or participants admitted by the administrators of this page to participate in the Discussion Group.

Comments, content and postings on this page are not official statements of the Postal Service unless made by Postal Service employees who are identified as “Postal Service Moderator”. The Postal Service makes no representations or warranties about the content on this page, including without limitation the accuracy, adequacy or timeliness of the information, if not posted by Postal Service Moderators. The Postal Service expressly disclaims any liability for, and in no event shall the Postal Service be liable for, any information, comments or materials posted by any user or third party. This page is for “on-topic” comments consistent with these Discussion Group Community Rules, with the PCC Mission and with the Postal Service guidelines governing the PCC Program. This page should not be used to provide feedback on the Discussion Group. Any comments or feedback on the Discussion Group should be sent to the PCC Program Office at pcc@usps.gov. Please review these Discussion Group Community Rules as well the LinkedIn User Agreement terms carefully.

The Postal Service reserves the right to remove or restrict any content that is inconsistent with the purpose and scope identified in these Discussion Group Community Rules and to remove any user that does not comply with these Community Rules. During regular business hours, Postal Service administrators will endeavor to monitor user comments. The Postal Service requests that all users engage in respectful and relevant discussions. Please post your own original content and not content that belongs to anyone else. This page should not be used to report criminal or suspicious activity or to submit a claim, complaint or legal notice. The Postal Service requests that you refrain from posting:

- Content that promotes or endorses commercial services or goods or entities.
- Content that constitutes spam, repetitive posts or links to other sites or pages.
- Content that promotes or endorses any political party, candidate or group.
- Obscene, violent or sexual content that could be harmful to minors.
- Unlawful or legally actionable material, such as content constituting unlawful discrimination, hate speech, defamation, fraud, threats, harassment, or copyright, trademark or other intellectual property infringement.
- Content that violates anyone else’s rights, such as privacy or publicity rights.

- Statements that are false, misleading or dishonest.
- Content that could subject the Postal Service or the PCC Program to liability or a security risk.
- Surveys, contests, sweepstakes, chain letters and pyramid schemes.
- Any software, program or file that could damage the operation of another person's computer, such as a file containing a virus.
- Content that is prohibited by the terms of the LinkedIn "User Agreement" or other LinkedIn standards.

The Postal Service does not store or collect personal information that users post to this page. However, the Postal Service may collect and store user names for the sole purpose of providing customer service to users. To review the Postal Service's Privacy Policy, visit www.usps.com/privacypolicy. However, remember that any information you share on this page, including personal information, is publicly available for others to see. And, by using LinkedIn to communicate with the Postal Service, users might provide personal information to LinkedIn. LinkedIn is a third-party platform and is not bound by the Postal Service's Privacy Policy. Your activity on this page is subject to LinkedIn's terms and conditions, such as the User Agreement and Privacy Policy of LinkedIn. We recommend that you review LinkedIn's terms and policies and exercise caution when posting content on this page. In no event, shall the Postal Service be liable if LinkedIn or any other person or entity uses content that users have posted to our page, including, without limitation, content constituting intellectual property or personally identifiable information.

When users choose to participate in the Discussion Group, they are giving the Postal Service a non-exclusive, irrevocable, perpetual right to reproduce, distribute, use, display, perform or create derivative works in whole or in part of any or all information, suggestions, ideas, statements, drawings or concepts communicated for any purpose by such users on the page (including any images, text, sound recordings, software and any other content), together with user name and profile picture, in any media now known or hereinafter devised, anywhere in the world, for the Postal Service's own business purposes, including, without limitation, for business development, advertising and promotional purposes, without any compensation whatsoever. This license includes the right to grant sublicenses. When users post content to this page, a user is certifying that to the best of his/her knowledge, such user owns or has the permission to display such content on LinkedIn and to grant the above rights to the Postal Service.

This page contains content, such as logos and images, which are owned by the Postal Service or third-parties. When users visit this page, they are agreeing that they will not reproduce, distribute, display, perform or create derivative works, in whole or in part, of any images, text, sound recordings, software or any other content on this page.

Please note that our Discussion Group Community Rules may change from time to time. Please check back often.

Additional Resources

Customer Service: If you have a Postal Service customer service issue or question, or would like to submit a claim, please contact us at 800-ASK-USPS (800-275-8777) or visit: <https://www.usps.com/customer-service/customer-service.htm>.

Please do not post non-public information about you or others, such as tracking numbers, claim information or home addresses on our page.

Media Inquiries: For media inquiries, please visit <http://about.usps.com/news/welcome.htm>.

Suspicious activity: To report phishing or suspicious activity, please visit <https://www.usps.com/customer-service/customer-service.htm>.