Near field communication (NFC) is a form of communication between devices such as smartphones, tablets or items embedded with NFC chips, tags or similar technology.

Standard NFC technology generally consists of embedding a small chip or other form of technology into a carrier (mailpiece or other item) that can be recognized by a NFC enabled device.

“Enhanced” Augmented Reality (AR) provides robust features that allow consumer engagement experiences using the technology to relate directly to products and brands.

“Enhanced” AR also includes:

- video animation and/or
- 2D-3D interactive graphics playing in front of or over physical objects so that they appear to be interacting with the physical object (2D/3D graphics & animation must be produced using the AR development toolkit, not merely incorporated in a video upon launch).
- gamification or mobile game play
  - rewards for players who accomplish tasks such as points, badges or virtual currency
  - competition with other players
  - adding meaningful choice
  - increasing challenges
  - added narratives

“Enhanced” AR excludes the use of static, pop-up, worded displays that do not engage the recipient in any experience other than reading or simply clicking a button.
Video in Print Requirements:
Video in Print (ViP) is video advertising that is featured in print catalogs and/or mailpieces. ViP can be integrated into a printed piece in several ways including, but not limited to:
• integrated video screen within a printed, mailable piece
• integrated video/picture utilizing translucent paper
• personalized interactive video
• streaming video tools/platforms
